Charged by the whole board with the duty of compromising, or settling the controversy with the power company, the committee of which the writer is a member, did the best it could, and the recommendations, right or wrong, were arrived at after a long series of conferences. The city saved over $2,000 in the pumping bill; it will save from 30 to 50 dollars monthly in the future; it received in cash over $1500.00 that does not belong to the city itself, but which sum the committee members were not wise enough to distribute equitably. The committee asked that the $1500 be placed in the bond tax fund where it can not be frittered away. The committee di dthe best it could with a hard proposition.

I got to Jackson last Thursday too late for the rucus. Somebody suggested that if Paul and Fred will agree to restage this bout in some huge stadium and charge 50 cents admission, the deficit can be removed, the budget balanced, and every want of the average man can be satisfied.

Style Show and Dance Were Fortnightly Club's Cotton Week Contributions

Grenada's observance of Cotton Week reached the height of its beauty Friday night when the Fortnightly Club, with the hearty cooperation of Grenada merchants, staged a cotton dress fashion show, modeled by members of the club, assisted by a group of sub debs and smaller children.

This socially important and brilliant affair was staged at the Barwin Hotel auditorium. Spectators filled to capacity the auditorium and lobby.

The first scene was an old fashioned garden, featuring a magnolia tree, bright garden furniture, a lilly pool and clusters of garden flowers.

This beautifully arranged program was symbolic of a closer union and understanding between the natives of our southland and its greatest product, cotton.

Mr. Knox Pierce, master of ceremonies announced the models and firms loaning the attractive apparel.

The breakfast scene in which the breakfast party wore lovely house coats, was presided over by Miss Sue Willis, dressed as "Mammy."

To appear at this time were the following matrons: Mesdames C. V. McKell, Johnnie Leigh, Paul Wagner, Joe Thompson, H. A. Alexander, and J. D. Quinn. After this attractive scene, the latest style in mother-daughter dresses were modeled. Appearing were Mrs. E. L. Worthington and daughter, Mary Betty, Mrs. C. S. Liles and daughter, Dorothy, Mrs. O. R. Lilly with daughter, Betty, Mrs. Johnnie Leigh and

Death Angel Called for Mrs. J. E. Shaw Sr. Wednesday

Mrs. Minnie Mitchell Shaw, wife of Mr. J. E. Shaw, Sr., of Holcomb, died in Grenada Hospital during the early afternoon of Wednesday, May 8, 1940. Her death was the culmination of an illness which trained physicians despaired of curing, and was not unexpected.

She was 67 years of age last October, having been born in the eastern part of Grenada County on Oct. 28, 1872. Since early girlhood she has been a adherent to the Christian faith and was a devoted member of the Bethel Baptist Church, near her home.

On Nov. 16, 1890 she and Mr. James E. Shaw, Sr., were married. This couple, working hand in hand, started with practically nothing but an earnest desire to get ahead by honest toil and honest dealings, and has never ceased working to that end. They settled on a tract of land near the Grenada-Calhoun county line, in Beat Two, and there reared one of the finest sets of children, now all grown and married, ever reared in Grenada County. Into each of these children was instilled and inbred a respect for honest work and a desire to progress in the world. A short while back, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw sold their home farm, and moved to Holcomb to be near their youngest daughter, Mrs. Paul Hayden. Like the plant which, having seen its seed come to full maternity, Mrs. Shaw, having seen the children she loved assume, one by one, a place of their own in the affairs of the world, could pass on with full consciousness that she had done well the part assigned to her by Providence.

Her body was carried to the graveyard near Pleasant Grove Church and buried Thursday afternoon, Rev. J. W. T. Siler performed the funeral rites. Many friends and relatives came there to pay their last full measure of love and esteem to this good woman.

Honorary pallbearers were Doctors J. A. Shaw, J. S. Sharp, J. K. Avent, Bob Clanton, F. S. Hill, and Sam Carothers, and Messrs. E. A. Penn, Jay Gore, J. D. Dyre, J. P. Pressgrove, J. T. Keeton, George Criss, Jim Doolittle, J. W. Wood, J. T. Thomas, W. W. Whitaker, C. A. Perry, R. W. Sharp, H. L. Honeycutt and S. C. Mims, Jr. Active pallbearers were Messrs. G. S. Wood, Howell Childs, Boyd Doolittle, Martin Trussell, Claud Denton and Rufus Doolittle.

Surviving her are her husband, Mr. J. E. Shaw, Sr., of Holcomb; three sons, J. E. Shaw, Jr., of Grenada, Griffis Shaw, of Pleasant Grove, and Claud A. Shaw, of Holcomb; six daughters, Mesdames E. D. Rose and Walter C. Emanuel, both of Osceola, Ark.; H. C. Bradford, of Lepanto, Ark., Paul Hayden, of Holcomb, C. W. Spencer, of Tallulah, Louisiana, and T. U. Rose, of Winona, Mississippi, and several brothand sisters all of whom live in the State of Texas.

To the sorrowful ones, the writer extends his deepest sympathy.

Grenada Organizes Softball League; First Game to be Played On May 22nd

Softball will make this year's debute in Grenada May 22nd. Quite an interest was shown in this sport last year, and it is hoped by it's sponsors that more will be shown in it this year, now that Grenada sport fans know the thrills that can be had at these exciting games.

The progressive and wide awake Lions Club sponsored softball last year, and are again taking it upon themselves to entertain Grenadians on the hot summer nights.

The league will be composed of eight teams, five of them will be made up here in Grenada, Holcomb, Coffeeville and Tie Plant will be represented by a nine.

Last year the Grenada Auto Co., team won the pennant, and again Joe, Jr., is hopeful of bringing home the bacon. However, he will start with almost an entirely new team, and doesn't know where he will wind up.

The games will be played at the Fair Grounds, first game May 22nd, starting at 7:30. The admission will be ten cents (one thin dime) to all.

The schedule for the first half is as follows:

Wednesday, May 22nd—Railway Express vs. Tie Plant; Dyre-Kent Drug Co. vs. Holcomb.

Tuesday, May 28—Grenada Auto Co. vs. Coffeeville; Lockett Lumber Co. vs. Lion Oil.

Friday, May 31—Holcomb vs. Railway Express; Tie Plant vs. Dyre-Kent Drug Co.

Friday, June 7—Lion Oil vs. Grenada Auto Co.; Coffeeville vs. Lockett Lumber Co.

Tuesday, June 11—Grenada Auto

Memorial Day Observed At Providence Sunday

Last Sunday was Memorial Day at Providence. The day was ideal, as far as the weather was concerned, and the people began to come in early with flowers to decorate the graves.

Mrs. Lester Carpenter, who looks after the cemetery had recently cleaned the cemetery of grass and worked the flowers. While the flowers were beautiful, they were not as beautiful as usual owing to the backward spring.

At 11 o'clock the people assembled at the church for worship. After some appropriate songs, one special, by Mrs. Hudson, of Grenada, accompanied by Mrs. Penn, of Grenada, at the piano, Bro. Huffstatler preached the Memorial sermon from Job. 14:14. "If a man die shall he live again?" Subject: "The Immortality of the Soul."

After the service many tarried for a while and had a very pleasant social greetings. Some few brought lunches and spread them and ate together.

There were many visitors from other communities, some from a distance. Mrs. Bass Searcy and her mother, Mrs. Roseman, of McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Ross and family of Cleveland; Mrs. Dockery and Mrs. Leverette, of Hernando, Mrs. Will Bowen, of Duck Hill, the Tribbles, of Tillatobia, Mrs. Maud Willis and Mrs. Henry Willis of Graysport, Mr and Mrs. John Henry Cohea, of Inverness, Miss Delores Carpenter, of Greenwood, Mrs. Bill Harpole, of Malen, and a goodly number of homefolks from Grenada. There were many others, whose names the writer does not have. Hope there is no offense if your name is omitted.

Another goodlooker, Sister J. D. Monday of Holcomb, has been added to the mailing list. She said she was tired of borrowing Mrs. Holcomb's paper.

CITY PAYS LIGHT COMPANY $5,000 TO SETTLE LONG STANDING RATES CONTROVERSY

Not Everybody Was Pleased With Compromise, As H. J. Ray's Letter Shows

W. W. Whitaker, Editor,
Grenada County Weekly.

After the last meeting of the City Council it seems the citizens of Grenada have again gotten it in the neck and the city, with our two newspapers, have gotten on the payroll of the Mississippi Power & Light Co.

The citizens have been advised through the City Council that, though they made a contract with the Mississippi Power & Light Co., for the citizens that should this contract want to be contested, it would have to be done by the individuals and not the City Government.

I understand the City has accepted a settlement for the citizens with reference to the non-compliance of the contract by the Mississippi Power & Light Co., and the money will be paid them and not the citizens.

If the City cannot sue and defend the rights of the citizens in this contract, just what right have they to accept citizens money from the Mississippi Power & Light Company in any form of settlement.

Does this money belong to the city or the patrons of the Mississippi Power & Light Co. The business interests of Grenada are not satisfied with the service given by the Mississippi Power & Light Company, and a vote a few months ago showed a majority of seven to one for a new plant. Just why does not the City Council pay some attention to this expression?

In fairness to the Power Company, the City and citizens, there should be some means of proof that they are and will comply with the contract made by them.

Cooking School Drew A Large And Attentive Audience

The Cooking School and Modern Home Revue which were held at Hotel Barwin Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons of this week have been conceded to be the most generously attended of any similar event held in Grenada. This event, sponsored by Mississippi Power & Light Company, the appliance dealers of this community and the Grenada County Weekly, drew eager groups of women to the lectures and the actual cooking demonstrations, as well as actual demonstration of other household electric appliances, while the attractive displays of such equipment handled by the local dealers of Grenada in the lobby of the hotel intrigued the imagination, as well as aroused the longings of this group of housekeepers.

Time-tested recipes and those which will provoke imitation, or rather duplication in the homes, were employed by cooking experts of the power company. A desire to use modern things in modern homes in this modern day was aroused by exemplification of the cheapness and easiness of having these things.

Colored maids, who after all do most of the work in the kitchens of many homes, were invited to occupy the balcony, and they too were greatly benefitted by the actual demonstrations.

IKE PEARSON MOWS DOWN THE CHICAGO CUBS

Ike Pearson pitched the Phillies to a 1-0 decision decision over the Chicago Cubs in one of the best hurdling shows of the season, Tuesday. He dealt out four widely spaced hits while Vern Olsen of the Cubs allowed five.

Ike signed with the Philadelphia Phillies last year, and has made remarkable progress in the pitching art. Grenada people are mighty proud of this boy, and wishes him much success in his chosen profession.

ANNOUNCES FOR CONGRESS

HON. K. G. RAYBURN

The Grenada County Weekly has been authorized to announce Hon. K. G. Rayburn of Pontotoc as a candidate for the important office of Congressman in the 4th Congressional District, and has been reliably informed that this gentleman is a graduate of Ole Miss, and the son of the well known Dr. Rayburn of Pontotoc.

Mr. Rayburn's own announcement will be found on the last page.

Morrow New Sales Manager For Oliver-Lilly Motor Co.

Mr. E. L. "Chops" Morrow, who has been secretary-treasurer of Grenada Industries since beginning of construction of the plant three years ago, has been named Sales Manager of the progressive Oliver-Lilly Motor Company of Grenada, dealers in Ford products, and will begin part-time duties there next Wednesday, and full time on June 1st. Between now and the first of June, he will work "back and forth", that is finish up the odds and ends at the hosiery mill and also break himself in at his new post.

While Mr. Morrow was at Grenada Industries, it developed from an "idea" to a plant that employs 300 young men and young women, and pays out in Grenada, in wages and salaries, about $5,000.00 per week. He is now going another successful business, the Oliver-Lilly Motor Company, which starting business less than 18 months ago, has reached a volume of a million dollars per year.

John Edward Harris Died At Morgan City

John Edward Harris, 23 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Harris, of Morgan City, formerly of Grenada, died in his home Thursday night, April 18, 1940, after a severe heart attack, and was buried at Odd Fellows Cemetery in Grenada the next day. Garner Bros. were in charge.

Rev. E. R. Henderson, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, was in charge, and he was assisted by Rev. C. J. Oliphider of Morgan City.

Edward gave his heart to God when he was eleven years of age and took an active interest in Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. He was ill for many months but a severe heart attack brought his life quickly to an end. Active pallbearers were friends from Morgan City.

He is survived by his father, mother, one brother, Ben Alton, of Grenada, his grandmother, Mrs. Annie Harris, of Holcomb, and numerous other relatives in the Tribble and Harris families.

H. Graves Buys Star Bakery From Waring Taylor

As of Monday, May 6, Mr. Hamilton Graves became the owner of The Star Bakery, established by Mr. Lee Burnley, and operated for the past three months by Mr. J. W. Taylor.

Monday and Tuesday were spent in straightening up and rearranging the establishment, while Graves baker, Pettibone, produced a batch of bakery products Wednesday.

Mr. Graves recently retired from long service with Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, and, while not experienced as a baker, is a keen business man.

Two-Year Bill Accumulation Paid Off At A Savings of $2,000 To The City

By paying five thousand odd dollars to the Mississippi Power & Light Company, the city settled a 24 month's old water pumping account of over seven thousand dollars Monday night.

This compromise was the culmination of a controversy which began in May 1938, when the board, feeling that the city was paying a higher rate for water pumping than it should pay, refused to pay the bill rendered by the power company. The board has continued to refuse to pay this bill which, during two years, climbed to a total of $7,498.22. The board's idea originally was to force the issue which has long vexed that body and other boards—to force the power company to sue, and thus bring the famous Clause Seven of the contract between the city and the power company into court. The power company did not sue during the two years and showed no sign of suing in the future.

The matter was handled by the Water and Light Committee (Kent, McEachin and Whitaker) spasmodically for two years, with no meeting of minds. On April 14 John Bradley was authorized to sit in with Whitaker and McEachin, and these three reached the compromise (published in full below) with Mr. McKell, representing the power company.

At the regular meeting of the City Council Monday night, that body officially accepted the recommendations of the committee.

The recommendations signed by McEachin, Whitaker and Bradley, follows:

We, your committee, charged with the duty of compromising with the Power Company in regard to the long unpaid pumping bill due the Company by the City, and with the duty of seeing what, if anything, the Power Company is due the whole community for overcharges under Clause 7 of the original contract between the City and the Power Company, have gone into the matter with the Power Company officials, and, feeling that the matter should be settled during the current city administration so that we will not throw any cats (killed by this administration) into the laps of an innocent administration, recommended as follows:

(1) That the City pay the Power Company $5,491.15 in full payment of the pumping bills, which have been rendered as $7,498.22,

(2) That the City accept a check from the Power Company in amount of $1,632.90, which represents the net overcharge which the Power Company has made upon Grenada consumers since January 1936 until April 3, 1940, and that this money be placed in the BOND TAX FUND, wherein it will be used for the best interest of all persons in this City. We recommend this for the reason that we know of no practical method of actually returning the money to the individuals who were overcharged.

(3) That the City authorize the Power Company to install transformer equipment—to be paid by the City at a cost not to exceed $327.00—at the

THREE BEAT THREE MEN INJURED IN DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

As we go to press Thursday morning, news arrived that three Grenada county men, Carl Havens, Dave Williams, Jr. and Guy Hendricks, employed at the Beat Four gravel pit in Beat Four, were severely injured as result of the explosion of a bunch of dynamite caps, then in the left hand of Mr. Havens.

All three men, employees on county road work are now in Grenada Hospital. Mr. Haven will lose his left hand and likely several fingers from his right hand; Mr. Williams' legs and body are severely lascerated with bits of exploded caps; Mr. Hendricks' wounds, apparently, are least severe but he is suffering with dynamite burns and minor cuts and lascerations.

Mrs. Jno. Keeton gave a very interesting interpretation of the National Consumer's Tax Commission program, which is a national organization of women making a study of government and taxes. Some of the findings of this study are that women do about 87 per cent of the purchasing for the family, own approximately two-thirds of the property, and are the beneficiaries of most insurance policies, therefore they should know how much of the money that passes through their hands goes for hidden taxes.

At the conclusioin of the program delicious refreshments were served.

THE GRADUATE

The latter part of May (Graduating time) will long be remembered by each boy and girl receiving a diploma. The event is one that we all cherish. Every graduate loves to have something of durability to show in later years. His diploma is very important, and as he or she takes a step forward to the school of higher learning they will look at the watch that was given them (when they received their Diplomas) as an Award of Honor, to time them through their studies and appointments. We feel that the graduate, when making application for tuition, will receive the Best Consideration, as having studied and been examined under the faculty of the Grenada Schools, known far and wide for their excellence in all branches of study -:- -:-

A BULOVA WATCH WILL BE A TRUE COMPANION and DURABLE FOR MANY YEARS . . . As Your Grandparents will Attest to Our Reliability ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴

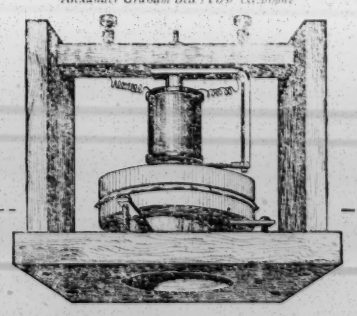
BEGINNING



. . . the telephone has been made a world-wide medium of voice communication . . . a dependable servant, available at low cost, to people in all walks of life. This remarkable achievement is the result of American initiative, organization and ingenuity.

The 21,500 Southern Bell workers have had an important part in this achievement. It is a source of satisfaction to them to know that they, together with thousands of other Bell System workers, have made it possible for anyone today using a Bell or Bell connected telephone to talk to almost any point in America, many foreign countries, and to ships at sea.

Americans enjoy the best, most dependable and cheapest telephone service in the world. They are assured of its continuance because it is the Company's policy to keep telephone facilities and quality of service ahead of public expectation.

Johnson-Sullens Rucus

Governor Paul B. Johnson and Fred Sullens, editor of the Jackson Daily News, had a rucus in the lobby of the Walthall Hotel last Thursday afternoon. Some say the governor and the editor met face to face; others that the editor was attacked from the rear. Anyway, Fred emerged with a gash on the head, and the governor shortly found himself on the floor with the editor on top of him. Bystanders separated the belligerents. Nobody killed. This editor was not there and is merely repeating what he read in the papers.

There is no use in moralizing on this subject and talking about the fair name of Mississippi being dragged in the dirt. If the fair (?) name of the state is not already dirty from previous draggings through dirt, it will never be dirty. This rucus was between two rough and ready customers, each hating the other worse than the devil hates Holy Water.

Since editor Sullens indicated in a recent editorial that he did not care to pursue the subject any further, there seems to be no reason for us to pursue it. If he and Paul are satisfied, the rest of us should be.

When Advertising Is Cut Out, Atrophy Sets In

Without advertising, business in this country would dry up almost overnight. It will be recalled that a few years ago the newspapers of New York ceased publication for a few days on account of a strike of the pressmen.

During that time the floors of the department stores were empty and trade ceased to flow through retail channels.

B. C. Forbes, economist with a world-wide reputation, says "when advertising is cut, atrophy sets in."

That is a strong expression and it comes from a real authority on trade. It is not just an idle statement and it has in it none of the elements of "propaganda"—it is based on facts and figures gathered from many sources, checked and double-checked. Mr. Forbes further comments on this subject:

"Advertisement may be likened to equipment necessary to transmute ore into iron or gold.

"Without utilizing advertising, how many of our leading business enterprises would continue to flourish?

"Suppose one of the three manufacturers of our lowest priced automobiles were to stop advertising: It would rapidly be left behind. Let any motor company cease using printer's ink—decay would set in, bankruptcy would be the final outcome.

"What of the department stores? If the leading establishment in any large city ceased advertising its wares, competitors would gain on it, eclipse it.

"Or suppose one of America's two towering mail order concerns were to stop employing advertising and to send out no catalogues; the other, by vigorously maintaining all its advertising activities, would reap rich rewards.

"When you or I—or our womenfolk—go forth to make purchases our judgment usually has been influenced—often definitely governed—by advertising we have read. This applies to the largest as well as the smallest units of merchandise, from an automobile, furniture, refrigerator to a razor, hoes, pen, cigarets.

"When advertising is cut out, atrophy sets in.

How About Neelly?

We may be sticking our neck way out to be chopped off right under the chin, but we are going to suggest that Hon. E. C. Neelly, at present the mayor of Grenada, be named by the County Democratic Convention, o be held at ten A.M. on Tuesday, May 28th, to be one of the delegates from this county to the State Democratic Convention to be held later in Jackson.

This, it seems to us, would be a nice gesture toward Grenada's outgoing mayor, and would be a fitting tribute to a man who, whether we all agree with him or not, certainly tried to advance the better interest of this community. The pro-Neelly citizens could thus honor their choice, while the anti-Neelly citizens (being victorious) could be magnanimous about it.

Just a suggeston thrown out for whatever it is worth.

True Americans

By Supt. Rundle
(Dedicated to The Sons of The Legion of Grenada)

'Tis not American to lie or mean advantage take
I'm traitor to my flag if I have cheated for a stake;
In honor I must walk my way nor over loudly brag,
If I have stained myself today, I've also stained my flag.

'Tis not American to play a craven coward's part,
I cannot be untrue today and true if war should start.
I must be loyal to a friend, in thought and deed a man,
On whom the whole world can depend to be American.

'Tis not American to be disdainful of a trust,
All men who'd keep this country free must first of all be just.
And am I false to any man in what I seek to do
And wrong him be some selfish plan? I wrong my country, too.

I must respect that starry flag each moment of the day,
I must do more for it than brag or land it on the way;
Despite what wealth may bring to me, or health, or honor can,
My noblest duty is to be a true American.

Gone With the Wind As He Saw It

If you saw "Gone With The Wind" then, read the following review of the picture by a writer in the Toombs County (Ga.) Democrat. It's good and really worth reading:

"Katherine Scarlett O'Hara was our shero. A winsome wench with a figger like a marble statue and a head as hard. Gerald O'Hara was her pa. By nature he was most animal-like. Proud as a peacock, he roared like a lion, and rode like a dog-and-pony show. After Sherman came, he was crazy as a betsy bug.

"Scarlett was in love with Ashley Wilkes, who was in love with his cousin, Melanie, who was in love with Ashley and so they were married (Ashley and Melanie, in case you're getting confused). This irritated Scarlett no end, and so in quick succession she married for spite and cash, respectively, a couple of fellers whose names we didn't get. But then, neither did Scarlett for long.

"The other major characters were Rhett Butler, Belle Watling, and a colored lady exactly like the one on the flapjack box. Rhett, who was somehow strangely reminiscent of Clark Gable, was a cross between Jesse James and Little Boy Blue. If Rhett had joined the Lost Cause in the second reel instead of after the intermission, the Confederacy would have won the war . . . and Belle—you'd have loved Belle; everybody did. During the seige of Atlanta only three things were running—Belle's place, Prissey's nose, and the laundry that kept Rhett's white suits snow white.

"Melanie's baby arrived about the same time Sherman did. Both were equally welcome to Scarlett. It was, so far as painstaking search has revealed, the first baby ever born in Technicolor.

"Anyway, the South lost the war again in the picture (what would you expect with a lot of Yankee producers?) and Scarlett married Rhett to get even with him. Their married life was just like sitting in Hellfire and listening to the Heavenly choir. Finally, after Melanie died, Scarlett realized that she didn't love Ashley, but Rhett. Scarlett was as changeable as a baby's underwear. However, Rhett had had enough of her foolishness, and when she told him, he says: 'Frankly, my dear, I don't give a damn.'

"Neither did the audience by this time. They were glad to see the end, their own having become "number" than somewhat."

It Looks Like Hugh

Hugh White has been visiting in and around Jackson this week, we hear, and we also hear that Hugh has received a good deal of encouragement to enter the race against Bilbo.

Anti-Bilboers seem determined that Bilbo will not return to the United States Senate on a free ticket, and, as we have always said, Hugh seems the best bet for them.

What Bilbo will do to Hugh or anyone else who tries to unseat him, remains to be seen. The little rucus between Fred Sullens and Paul Johnson should not be an issue, but it probably will be an issue, for Mississippi has seen more far-fetched issues determine the result of a campaign.

Broadly speaking, we have two "parties" in Mississippi: Pat Harrison, Mike Conner and Hugh White leading the one "party", and Bilbo, Paul Johnson and Dennis Murphree leading the other "party". Hugh has crossed the lines, and messed things up less than any other principal actor. He can therefore command a great deal of strength in a senatorial race.

Post Office Situation

There has been no change, perceptible to the naked eye, in the local postoffice situation.

Three men, each of whom is an ex-soldier, and as such supposed to enjoy so-called veterans' preference, are eligible for this position. Two of them have been eligible for nearly twelve months. The other one has been eligible for two months or more.

One fellow who lives out between Pearidge and Rosebloom laughed and said that he guessed neither of the three suited Mr. Ford. He said he could not understand why they ever had any examinations, and neither do we.

The Average Man

The state legislature is supposed to close its twenty weeks session this week. The average man, to whom this session was dedicated, received the following benefits from this session:

PETITION FOR PARDON

Grenada, Miss., May 2, 1940.

To Your Excellency,
Governor Paul B. Johnson,
Jackson, Mississippi:

We, the undersigned citizens of Grenada County, respectfully petition your Excellency to grant a complete pardon to Dudley Greenlee, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Grenada County, in September Special Term, 1939, on a charge of Burglary to serve a term of two years in the State Penitentiary; we are advised that there was no direct testimony connecting Greenlee with the charge and that none of the purported stolen property was found in or traced to the possession of the said Dudley Greenlee; and that he was convicted on a purported confession which we are advised he denies he has made. We feel that this conviction is a miscarriage of justice and that Dudley Greenlee is entitled to a pardon because of a grave doubt of his guilt; and we respectfully ask your Excellency to grant him a full and complete pardon.

Respectfully submitted,
DUDLEY GREENLEE,
(5-9,16,23,30,6,13 165wp) and others.

Well another week has passed without our supervisors and our good aldermen being cussed out.

Hate To Get Up In The Morning?

DO YOUR FRIENDS CALL YOU LAZY?

Some people hate to get up in the morning, feel lazy all day, draggy, achy, generally no account. This lack of energy may not be caused by the weather. Often this condition is caused by poor elimination which is probably due to an unbalanced diet, lack of green foods during the winter, not enough exercise, and after effects of winter colds. If you are constipated and bilious due to these causes and there is no organic trouble, we urge that you try Nash's C. & L. Tonic and Laxative today.

No doubt many persons right here in your own community have received great relief from temporary constipation, mild forms of biliousness and the most prevalent type of Malaria by the use of Nash's C. & L.

Mr. Nash, who has been manufacturing drugs and filling prescriptions for forty years, places his personal guarantee on every bottle sold. He says, "Try Nash's C. & L. one week. If you are not satisfied your druggist is authorized to refund every cent you paid. I don't want your money if my medicine doesn't help you." Be sure to get Nash's C. & L. Price 50c per bottle.

For sale by all good Drug Stores and featured by SECOND CLASS DRUG STORE.

Do the members of YOUR family say this?

If not, perhaps it is because you have never given Alka-Seltzer a thorough trial.

All over the world people who have used Alka-Seltzer are enthusiastic in its praise.

If Alka-Seltzer is as good as we say it is, you want it in your medicine cabinet; if it is not, it won't cost you a penny. We will refund the purchase price to any new user who is not entirely satisfied.

Your family may need Alka-Seltzer sooner and more often than you think. Our guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded covers its use in all conditions listed below.

Gas on Stomach, Acid Indigestion, Heartburn, "Morning After", Muscular Pains, Neuralgia, Headache, Distress of Colds, as a Gargle in Minor Throat Irritations.

VALEDICTORY

(An editorial)

The editors of the "Bulldog" wish to express to its readers their sadness at leaving the most pleasant task—giving to you the news. We have sincerely enjoyed correcting you, laughing at you, and promoting you; we wish that we could continue to write for you. We appreciate the courtesy you have shown to us as editors; we are grateful for the assistance you have rendered when we needed it.

Someone who is now in a lower class will inherit the responsibility for the editing of this great little news column "The Bulldog". May you who will edit the "Bulldog" in the future stand for the ideals of the American press as we have. Interest your readers and give them the truth—that is the essence of journalism that we should strive for. "Good-bye."

GIRL RESERVES MEET

Last Thursday the new officers had charge of the program. Audrey Moss, the retiring president, turned the meeting over to her successor, Bettye Rule. Grace Smith, the new vice president had charge of the program. Several girls in the club are going to one of the two Girl Reserve camps so the program was based on these camps and camp life. Louise Avent told about Camp Rockbrook, Mississippi's own camp, near Macon. Two girls, Elizabeth Dogan and Sue Rowell, who have been to Gulfport camp told about their experience at the camp. The girls sang under the supervision of the new leader, Marjorie Champman, many songs appropriate to the program. A sunrise breakfast was planned for Saturday morning.

Saturday morning a large group of Girl Reserves went on a sunrise breakfast. Miss Haynes, the sponsor, Miss Ellzey and Miss Pierce went with them. They met in front of the high school then hiked to Pine Hill. They cooked and consumed large quantities of bacon, eggs, toast and coffee. After breakfast some of the girls sat around the fire and talked while others played games. They arrived home about the time that other people were getting up and after the hike home were about ready for another breakfast.

MISS TURNER

"And I would that I could utter all thoughts that arise in me," moans Miss Turner as a class respond all too laconically to her questions. She never has to threaten us to make us prepare our lessons for we know that an unprepared lesson means an "incomplete" in red ink on our report cards. Her kindly, sympathetic, humorous treatment of all her pupils has endeared her to the many young people who have sat and learned in her class. Students who have studied English under Miss Turner always rate high at college in this department and are a credit of her thorough training. Miss Turner loves reading and has made it her life work to interest young people in the reading of better books and in the composition of better papers. Her pupils don't forget her—almost every day one of her former pupils visits in her classroom; she doesn't forget them, either, and is always ready to defend one of "her children" or say a good word for him. She is the faculty leader in the National Honor Society. Her principles are irreproachable. She adores rocking chairs and her idea of Heaven is reading in a big "squashy" rocking chair. Although the general air in her classes is one of informal friendliness and she is very lenient with us, we know that misbehaviour will not be tolerated. And she would "gladly learn and gladly teach."

CHAPEL PROGRAM

The seniors had charge of the chapel program Wednesday morning at 10:20. Austine Kelly read a short portion of Scripture. William Winter, president of the senior class, delivered a very splendid talk concerning the benefits that the students in Grenada have received from the school. After a short speech of dedication, William drew the curtain on the stage and presented a large portrait of Mr. Rundle to the school. Mr. John T. Keeton, member of the school board, made a speech of thanks and acceptance to the seniors. Mr. Salmon made a very splendid speech, lauding Mr. Rundle on his many services to the school. Mr. Rundle made a speech of acceptance to the seniors. A large number of visitors were present.

DREAMS

(A Short-story Written in English II by Ernest Hendrix)

Once there was a boy who lived in a mill on the Sideshow marshes. But in those days the marshlands were meadowlands, with streams running in from the coast.

The mill-house was a gaunt and gloomy building of stone, which looked like a noble prison; in fact it was a prison for Dan, who lived in it. Dan said that the mill ground dreams into the meal.

Dan's father, the miller, was a harsh man and dark; he was dark inside and outside. Dan's mother was dead; he couldn't even remember her. Dan was his father's servant, and he was kept at work all the time.

Dan didn't know anything about the outside world, for he had never been taught anything. He never did get to leave the mill. His father was afraid if Dan found out anything about the outside world that he would leave him.

One day, when Dan was eighteen years old, there was a knock at the door. Nobody ever knocked. His father was the only person who came in and out. Dan opened the door and on the outside stood a common lassie, whom he judged as maybe two years younger than himself. She gave Dan a quick and careless look.

"Can I have a bit of bread?" she asked. Dan went into the kitchen and returned with some bread and some wheat ears. She ate the bread but saved the wheat ears to carry with her when she left. She gave Dan a shell for the bread.

When Dan went to sleep that night, he dreamed about the girl, and this is what he said, "My girl! How strange it was, your coming like that, so suddenly. Before I opened the door, I stood there guessing. Did you guess on the other side?"

"No, not much. I thought it might be a cross old woman, and it was you."

"Suppose I'd been a cross old woman. And you were just my girl. Why don't you speak to me?"

"How can I yet? It is so hard, looking a person in the eyes."

"If you are looking me in the eyes, tell me what color my eyes are."

"They are gray-green, and your hair is dark red, and your nose is all over freckles and very, very snub.

"WWhat's your name?"

"Helen. What is yours?"

"I am trying to tell you. My name is Dan Smith. Was my bread good to you?"

"The best that I have ever eaten."

"Tell me. Were you frightened when you first saw me? Did you think that I might be a scamp or an outlaw?"

This is only a little part of what he dreamed. But if I told you the whole story, Dan would rise out of the bed a gray-headed man.

The years slipped one by one, and Dan grew from a boy into a young man. But his eyes and his heart were still those of a boy, for life had touched them with nothing but dreams. His father grew harder and more tyrannical with years.

Dan dreamed one night that he was shipwrecked and was about to drown, when his hand hit something on the surface of the water. He was not strong enough to climb on top of it; but a hand helped him on top and he thought it was Helen who saved him.

When Dan thirty-five, his father died. Now he was free to go anywhere he wanted to. But he didn't go anywhere. After his father died, the peasants came no longer to get their grain ground. Dan had plenty to live on but from habit, he never wandered more than two hundred yards from the house. Children and boys and girls felt drawn to him. It was the dreams in his eyes that stirred the love in their hearts.

One day he was studying about the girl who gave him the shell. He decided he would get it and talk to it. This is what he said:

"Child! Child! Where are you, my dear? Aren't you coming back again? Let me come to you and live with you forever."

When he got through talking to the shell, he went to the window and gazed out over the mill pond. While he was looking, he saw a rat about to drown, and since it made him think about the dream he had had about himself about to drown, he went out to the pond and rescued the rat.

When he returned from the pond, he found sitting on the porch the woman he had been dreaming about all these long years. It was Helen, the woman who gave him the shell to keep. The next dream that Dan had was that he and Helen were married, and sure enough, in a few days they were married. Dan wanted to move to the city after he got Helen, but she wanted to make her home at the mill; so they lived a long and happy life at the mill place.

MR. DOLLARHIDE

Always calm and courteous, never nagging his band members, Mr. Roger Dollarhide has gained the admiration and respect from all. He's a little man and looks like Tyrone Powers; but, all of us dare not contradict him for his temper when aroused is that which we fear. He exacts a rigid enforcement of rules in the band room and we respect his authority. Because of his supreme ability among band directors in the state, he was made president of the Band Directors in Mississippi. He likes to play tennis and swim and to play the many instruments of which he is a master. He is a young man but has few superiors among musicians in Mississippi. In the seven years he has been here, he has trained about two hundred boys and girls in the playing of various instruments. Although he usually conducts himself with a quiet dignity, no one is more amused by a good joke or an eccentricit of one of his pupils than Mr. Dollarhide. Under his direction, a well-trained band has evolved from a chaos of hetrogenoys boys and girls—it performs at civic functions and on other special occasions. He is a good teacher for he knows thoroughly and enjoys his subject.

G. H. S. DIRT

My! Kathleen, you surely do go in for the tall ones! — Frances Davis, you had better watch out, looks like Audrey is beating your time — Vera Payne, haven't you learned Walter Trussell's car yet? — Mary Lou, you had better watch Emmett; he has been seen bicycling around Adams Street — Fred, give Nellie a break — By the way, graduation is taking away a few Sophomore girls' hearts. What will we do next year? — Billy Semmes, do you just have to go to Grammar School to get a girl? There's plenty of pretty ones over here — Betty Ann Gresham and Ruth Townes are thrilled over losing a few pounds — It seems that Bernice is still trying to find out who John Biddy dated that night — Mary Elizabeth Horton still likes to watch the Plymouths go by—Katherine Harrison, don't you get tired of reading a letter from Memphis every day?—Emma Grace, we overheard you and Max last Friday.—Mickey, you'll make Gracie jealous if you don't stop meeting a certain girl going back to work every day at noon.—Hilda Taylor, didn't I hear you mention Jim. Could it be Jim Burt, by any chance?—Marjorie Ray, Jessie Strider is a little too small for you. Don't you think?—Leon, you should have given Dorothy T. just one good piece of chicken at the Latin Banquet—she says he looks just like John Garfield.—(Don't you think Polly Richardson ought to get a cracker or something for this good dirt column.)

He had always treated her in a manner that a woman would object to—as in her life, in fact, at her very christening, he hit her sharply with a comb. She was made to carry heavy loads, she wandered from country to country never stopping for long in her native land—she was without a country, in fact. Several times, she nearly drowned, but he never worried about her—just himself. It was no uncommon occurrence for him to wipe his shoes on her. She served him well and when he was old and she was old, he gave her to the good ship "Mary Jane" or she was nearly a hundred years old, anyhow.

Fourth Grade Present Marionette Show

Produced by Fourth Grade of Grenada City Schools.

After seeing "The King of the Golden River" given by the Kingsland Marionette Company and brought to Grenada by the Fortnightly Club, Miss Elizey's section of the fourth grade became more interested in a play and began work on their marionette show.

The first job was to see how many characters would be needed and how they were to be made. The children decided to use three characters: the miller's daughter, who became queen in the second act, the dwarf, and the messenger. The bodies were made of wooden pieces joined together by cloth stuffed with cotton; the heads were made of plastic wood; then the faces were painted, the artificial hair and beard glued on, and the completed heads were fastened to the bodies so that they could be turned easily. In were made to move.

While some pupils were working on the marionettes, others were making the scenery and curtains, writing the story into play form, and building the stage and furniture. Every child had some part in the work.

Children were allowed to select the part they wished to do and after the construction work was finished, tryouts were held to select the cast for the play. The boys and girls did such good work in preparing for these parts that two sets of puppeteers were chosen. After one more week's practice in saying the lines and manipulating the marionettes, the play was ready to be given.

The mothers and friends of the children were invited to see the show. The play was divided into two acts, with three scenes each. The first act took place in the stable where the dwarf came three times to spin straw into gold for the miller's daughter. The second act was in the orchard where the dwarf came to claim the princess structions for making the marionettes were found in "A Book of Marionette Plays" by Anne Stoddard and Tony Sarg.

(Below) The miller's daughter promises the dwarf her first child if he will spin the straw into gold

For dressing the marionettes, material was bought by the children and patterns were cut to fit the dolls before actual work on the clothes began. The material was selected suitable to the characters. The miller's daughter was dressed in blue with a white apron, the dwarf in a red and black suit with a green feather in his hat, and the messenger in a dark blue uniform with a cape lined with red.

After the dolls were completed, seven strings were attached to them, one to each arm and leg, two to the head, and one to the back. The other ends of the strings were fastened to wooden controls, by which the marionettes

In the last scene the queen, who was once the miller's daughter, had sent the messenger to find out the name of the dwarf and the play ended when the queen on the ninth guess said, "How about Rumpledstiltskin?" To which the dwarf flew into a rage and stamped off the stage crying, "The witches must have told you. The witches must have told you. Oh, bother the witches!"

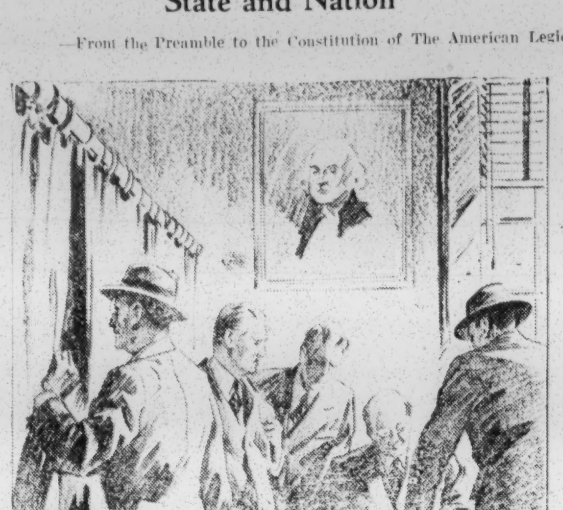
Principle No. 5--

To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the Community, State and Nation

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion



If we are to build a better Nation we must do it by developing better individuals. This obligation to us of the Legion is an individual matter. We cannot afford to sit back and let George do it. The influence of one life well lived in service to humanity will do more to help others of the community live a better life and will do more to help bring the Kingdom of Heaven here upon earth than all the speeches, laws, and regimentation of all time. If we are to bring about a harmonious balance in our community, state, and national life we must all develop a harmonious balance in our own lives.

The numerous educational, civic, social, and humanitarian phases of Legion activity offer opportunity to all for individual service. Let us all accept this challenge as an individual obligation and volunteer our services whenever needed. The individual contribution is all-important.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Saturday afternoon, May 4, Mrs. Knox Pierce entertained delightfully for her sweet little daughter, Arlein, age 3 years, celebrating her third birthday. Arlein was attired in blue dotted swiss trimmed with Irish crochet lace.

Thirty littlefriends assembled at the home at 4 o'clock and were greeted by Mrs. Pierce and Arlein, then conducted to the garden of the home for games.

Assisting with the children's entertainment were Mesdames Dick Long, Dewey Blaylock and Charles White.

The color scheme of bright green, rose and blue, was most successfully carried out in paper decorations, refreshment service and favors. The favors were whistles, horns and lolly pops.

A beautiful birthday cake with three candles was served to the delighted little guests with ice cream. The honoree received gifts and was most happy over the many honors and delights of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Sledge and son spent the week-end in New Albany with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Sledge.

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Boone were friends from the delta. Included were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Able and son Paul Jr. and Mrs. W. C. Campbell of Clarksdale; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baird of Baird; and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Heathman of Heathman.

Notes Taken On A Trip To Jackson Friday

The old lady having gone to Jackson Thursday morning, I held out until Thursday night and went down to see her.

They had quite a rucus in the Walthall Hotel an hour or so before I got there. Johnson vs. Sullens, one round.

One fellow suggested the following head for a story about the rucus: "JOHNSON 1, SULLENS 0, TWO STRIKES, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS". Whut did he mene mr top.

I did not see the rucus and all I know is what I read in the papers.

Everyone has had something to say about the affair for publication except Mr. Tom and Governor Johnson.

Before the rucus, folks were divided into two groups: Johnsonites and anti-Johnsonites. Now they are divided into the following two classes: Headguard Wearers and Walking Stick Toters.

Many folks wanted the rucus to go on for at least five rounds.

Biggest bull in the publicizing of the rucus was made by the Chicago Herald-American, which had Hugh White's picture with Paul Johnson's name under it.

I am neutral in this European war, and just as neutral in the outcome of the Jackson rucus.

Visited the House and was honored by Sam Lumpkin, who insisted that I take a seat up there with him, and he gave me a flowery introduction, none of which I merited, to the membership of the House. Some fellow asked what Sam was fixing to run for. I do not know.

Col. Kahn will be delighted to read that Mike Conner is still alive.

While there I saw the two main wreckers of the gravy train: Albert Lake of Greenville and Walter Sillers of Roselale, Mississippi is going to hear from Albert Lake in the future. All Walter wants is to practice law and sit in the lower House. He could get almost any office he sought.

"Mr. Smith of Washington", Bilbo's research secretary, has got back from Washington. He was there the day after the rucus, or maybe there during the rucus.

Johnny Aldridge, our one-half representative, seems to be getting fat on the fare in Jackson.

Fishing and lying started together.

Here mr top, fine sorry I did not git to Jaxon in time to seperate thim fellers in the wall fall hotell.

John Huffington and Harry Greenfield together cleaned off the Huffington front yard Saturday. Greenfield raked the leaves into a nice big pile, and Mr. Hufington struck a match and ignited the leaves.

My Column

Whyte Whitaker, Jr.

In some simple and sweet little way remember mother, on Mother's Day. This day is set aside for the one who went through the shadows of death to bring you into the world; and ever since that time she has had a love for you so deep, so great, so enduring that it will never die.

Sunday night was the first time we heard the cricketts singing. The noise could have been made by frogs or katy-dids. We're no authority on the insects, and the sounds they make. So if you think frogs and katy-dids kept you awake, we agree with you.

Old Sol has started bearing down, but not half as hard as he will in the next few months. If this statement is a lie, (we feverently hope it is) we will take it back at the proper time.

There are a lots of young girls in this town who possess qualities which charm and delight the sense.

When you hear army planes over Grenada Wednesday, May 15th, don't get excited, Hitler isn't after us y-e-t. It's just planes on maneuevers, trying to communicate with Jimmie Shaw's army.

When an airplane flies over us Americans it fascinates us—when it comes zooming over an European it terrifies him. Isn't it grand not to have to run to a bomb proof shelter everytime you see one?

The Fortnightly club surely did have a swell dance after the cotton show. P. S. Watch that "a", Greenfield.

Wonder why John Rufus makes so many trips to Oakland. She must be the geme of femininity.

Ike Pearson shut out the mighty Chicago Cubs Tuesday of this week. Allowing them only four hits. Congratulations Ike, Grenada is proud of you.

Lightning struck a tree in the court house yard last Tuesday night, and killed 17 sparrows. We're sure that the show goers are sorry to hear of the death of these poor fowls, but are damn, (yes, we mean DAMN) glad that it didn't strike 39 feet further north.

William Spears went to the show the other night expecting to see a football picture. Someone told him "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" was the star player in a Hollywood version of a great Army-Notre Dame game.

The season for "cramming" is here. My sister's noodle possess slightly more English and Literature than that of the average student. So the house is full of eager to learn boys. If she had as many beaus as she had during examination time she would never become an old maid.

If Governor Johnson had taken a gun and shot Fredrick Sullens it would have looked better than slipping up to his back and hitting him with a walking cane. That's what we call ahellofanote, the chief executive lowering himself to such an act of violence.

In a way you couldn't blame the governor if he would shoot Fredrick, for he has dragged his name through the slimy mire and muck of Mississippi politics. However, there is another way to look at it, that is, you've got to expect criticism when in the political arena.

Two days before the Germans began their conquest of Norway a picture was shown to the government officials and big wigs of the city of Oslo. The theme of the picture was: "What happens to people who dare resist the German war machine." The picture showed the actual happenings in Poland, the horrors and destruction the German air armada could and would create.

If this picture had been shown all over Norway as it was in Oslo, the capital, there wouldn't have been any need for the German army to bring guns with them. Fifteen hundred soldiers captured a city of several hundred thousand population without firing a shot.

Why worry yourself about national happenings, and personalities? Little Orphan Annie is safe!

Wonder whom "That Fellow" was referring to when he insinuated that the Grenada County bosomed a congressional aspirant? We have looked high and low, and at the time of this writing haven't found this potential candidate. Oh well, "That Fellow" always gets things mixed up, and we drop the subject with the impression that, as is usually the case, "That Fellow" doesn't know what he is talking about.

Come to think about it "That Fellow" not being any too familiar with the boundaries of Grenada county might of thought that Pontotoc was in Grenada county—for after all we do have a fellow by the name of K. G. Rayburn announcing for Congress.

It is with deep sorry that the news came to us of the death of Mrs. Jim Shaw, Sr. She was indeed a fine lady, and to the bereaved ones we extend our sincere sympathy in their great loss.

WALTER GARNER CELEBRATES THIRD BIRTHDAY

On Saturday afternoon, May 4, 1940, Walter Garner, Jr., fine little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Garner, celebrated his third birthday with a delightful planned lawn party at their home on Union Street.

Thirty-one little guests arrived, bringing birthday presents daintily wrapped for the delightful host.

Favors were dolls made of tissue paper dressed dolls made of lolly pops and gum drops.

There were many toys placed about the lawn for the children to amuse themselves with. These childish games were supervised by Mrs. Garner and the two grandmother, Mesdames W. E. Jackson and W. W. Garner.

Kodak pictures were made of the group.

In the late afternoon each guest was served a "Dixie Cup" of ice cream and an individual white cake with three candles on each cake.

Three tables were arranged in the reception rooms of the home. Lovely phlox and iris added beauty and charm to the attractive rooms.

Non member guest present was Mrs. F. S. Hill.

High score was compiled by Mrs. Chas. Ransom.

In the late afternoon, Mrs. Pleasants served a delectable salad.

Dear Squire Carver: Come around to the Roach Den the next time you are in town.

Robert Lee Harris, a recent graduate of Holcomb School, visited this office recently.

Thanks to our friends, our printing business has enjoyed a steady, healthy increase. A good deal of this increase is due to the fact that we turn out no shoddy work. If we cannot do the job well, we will tell you so, and suggest that you go to Jackson, the Printer, who, for some jobs, is better equipped than we are.

Anyway, speaking of printing, practically all the printing needed in Grenada can be done in Grenada.

Pontotoc Lawyer Announces Candidacy for Congress

TO THE VOTERS OF THE FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF MISSISSIPPI:

After careful consideration and on the advice of many friends, I am here with announcing as a candidate for Congress from the Fourth Congressional District of the State of Mississippi.

In announcing as a candidate for Representative in Congress, I do so with a full appreciation of the duties and responsibilities of the office which I seek. I believe that I am qualified by temperament and training to serve you well, and I promise you that I will perform the duties of that high office to the best of my abilities—if I am elected.

I am 33 years of age, and am a lawyer by profession. My home is in Pontotoc, Mississippi. My family lives in Pontotoc, and all of our interes: are in the Fourth Congressional District.

I believe the people of the district wants new representation, and I believe that I can serve you the way you want to be served, and the way you ought to be served. I will be faithful to your trust.

It is my purpose to discuss with you the vital issues in this campaign, and I hope to see many of you personally before the first primary.

Tell your friends about my candidacy, and with your help, and the help of your friends, we will surely win.

Sincerely yours,
K. G. RAYBURN

pumping plant so that there will be one, not two meters, which will save the City about 30 to 50 dollars per month in order to receive LM-1 rate.

(4) That it become a regular custom for the Power Company to submit annually, at the end of the fiscal year, a statement showing what, if any net overcharge has been made upon the consumers of Grenada, and for the City Council then and there to accept or reject the figures. This will do away with such duties as we have performed, going back FOUR years to arbitrate.

(5) That the Power Company, through local mediums, advertise, for the benefit of the general public, the fact that, at this time, there is no material difference between its rates and the rates of the Mississippi Power Company—the perennial bone of contention—and that Clause 7 is, for every practical purpose, being lived up to.

(6) That a certain ordinance or order passed July 8, 1938, suggesting that consumers refrain from paying their bills, be rescinded, as we know of no just method of adjusticating the small overcharges and the small undercharges in a just and practical manner, and for the further reason that we are convinced that, at the present time, Grenada is enjoying about all of the advantages that Clause 7 gives Grenada, the Power Company having reduced its rates since this controversy began.

Respectfully submitted,
April 14, 1940.

Rev. G. E. Wiley Addresses Paynes Graduates

The 1940 graduates of Paynes High School as well as an unusually large congregation were the fortunate recipients of a very effective message Sunday evening, May 5; when Rev. Glenn Wiley, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Grenada, Miss., preached the annual commencement sermon. Also, the Class Night Program, sponsored by Miss Mabel Martin, Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell, and Prof. Louis Cauthen moved off in good shape Friday evening, May 3; with a very large and appreciative audience.

The remaining portions of our commencement schedule consists of final examinations this week to be followed by the annual graduation exercises Friday evening, May 10, beginning at 8 o'clock. Rev. J. Murray Taylor, pastor of Hollywood Christian Church Memphis, Tenn., will deliver the commencement address. Brother Taylor has in the past made two commencement addresses in Charleston and one in Paynes. Those who have heard these addressed are familiar with the fact that each time you hear Brother Taylor makes you more anxious to hear him again. The following members of the high school senior class will receive diplomas: Thelma Henry, valedictorian; James Henry Staten, salutatorian; Louise Young, Perry Newsome, and Billie Warford. About seventeen members of the eighth grade will receive grammar school certificates.

daughter, Paula. Morning dresses, charmingly presented and of the style and comfort so appreciated by all women during the summer months were modeled by Mesdames Ben Townes, Roger Pleasants, L. A. Noble, R. Dollarhide, R. Burt, C. V. McKell and W. V. Davis.

A group of children accompanied by Mesdames McKell, Noble and Burt presented ready-to-wear clothes, also apparel made from materials found in stores in Grenada.

Other models were: Sports modeled by Mesdames Davis, Thompson, Bays, Wagner, Worthington, J. L. Townes, Jr., and Dollarhide.

The bathing beauties were members of the Sub Deb Club. These attractive models were Misses Emma Jean Geeslin, Lillian York, Grace Smith, Mary E. Horton, Ernestine McNulty and Marguerete Stanley.

Afternoon frocks were lovely indeed and featured the outfit suitable for teas, bridge or club. Modeling these most attractively were, Mesdames Harry Burkley, O. R. Lilly, B. Bays, R. Pleasants, J. Thompson, E. W. Worthington, L. A. Noble, C. S. Liles, R. Burt, P. Wagner, J. D. Quinn, C. V. McKell and R. Dollarhide. These handsome matrons presented a most attractive group. At this time a change of scene was made.

"Mammy" was on stage and reminiscent of "Mi-lady's styles, talked of clothes her folks used to wear. The models of old fashions paraded a dimly lighted stage with colored spot lights thrown on each one announced. In this scene the following appeared: Mesdames Sam Mims, III, G. W. Patty, Misses Ann Duncan, Louise Avent, Betty Rule, Isabel Bailey and Joyce Matthews.

The last scene to be presented the delighted audience was of the romantic evening time in the Southland.

The cotton evening dresses were modeled by the following: Mesdames C. C. Cathey, Bert Bays, J. L. Townes, Jr., H. A. Alexander, C. S. Liles, O. R. Lilly, R. Burt and J. Leigh.

This beautiful display, sponsored by the Fortnightly Study Club, is the second annual style show. This club, one of the outstanding study clubs in North Mississippi is to be congratulated most heartily upon the success of the cotton style pageant and the dance which followed at the Community House.

Merchants cooperating were Quality Shop, Kimbrough's, Trusty's, Isenberg's Marascalco Dry Goods Co., Herring's, Yolles, Cook's Novelty Shop, Keeton's, Friedman's and Heath's.

Methodist Revival Drawing Large Crowds

Preceded by a series of prayer meetings, held in homes of all denominations last Thursday evening, the revival being conducted at the Methtodist Church by the well-known preacher, Rev. John L. Horton, is drawing large crowds of spiritual minded people of Grenada. This meeting began Sunday night and is scheduled to close tomorrow (Friday). Two services daily, at ten and seven thirty, are being held.

It is generally conceded that Mr. Horton, while not of the hell fire and damnation type, so common in years past, draws his hearers to him and holds them with logical, sane and nonsensational presentation of the true facts of Christianity, its place in the world today, and its effect upon the trend of civilization.

Capacity crowds have enjoyed not only the forceful sermons of this illustrious preacher but also the well-selected and splendidly rendered spiritual music which an augmented choir presents.

Red Briscoe's neighbors can now stop fussing as Red has whitewashed his board fence. They have been giving Red hell about it.

For Sale: Razor blades and needles. It looks like I am a prize sucker for traveling vendors of those essential commodities.

JOHNSON AND SULLENS GET ONE VOTE EACH

In the general election to elect officers of the City of Grenada, held Monday, it is understood that Paul H. Johnson received one vote for Mayor and Fred Sullens received one vote for City Marshal.

However the following were elected: R. W. Sharp, Mayor; Williard Odom, City Marshal; Aldermen, West Ward, Harry Burkley and Jim Moss; Aldermen, East Ward, Jim Horn and Clarence Burt; Aldermen from City at Large, Claud Perry and Whyte Whitaker; City Recorder, Mrs. W. Y. West.
